PROCUREMENT THAT DELIVERS RESULTS

INTRODUCTION

Procurement and supply chain has seen new and revolutionary concepts spinning from the frenzied technological leaps of our time; especially in digital transformation.

In this dynamic, complex and disruptive era, procurement leaders and experts across the world are searching for a secure and successful future.

PROCUREMENT CHALLENGES

THE 3 BIGGEST CHALLENGES PROCUREMENT LEADERS FACE

1. Process

- Inadequate planning and linking demand to the budget
- Accountability
- Interchange of data due to digitisation

2. People

- Lack of knowledge, skills and capacity
- Unethical behaviour

3. Supply Chain Management

- Non-compliance
- Ineffectiveness in B-BBEE
- Inadequate monitoring and evaluation
- Decentralisation of procurement

We often hear talk of unauthorised, wasteful and irregular expenditure. All because there is no sight of what is planned for versus actual spending.

We help you:

- Manage budgets, control irregular and unauthorised expenditure
- Make good economic decisions based on formative spend analysis

LET US SOLVE
YOUR CHALLENGES.

OUR eProc360° SOLUTION

PROCUREMENT PLANNING

Procurement planning is the process of identifying and consolidating required goods and services, by determining both timeframes and budget within a financial year.

It allows for the monitoring of the procuring process to determine how actual performance compares with planned activities, and thus to alert the pertinent departments and adjust the procurement plan accordingly. It enhances the transparency and predictability of the procurement process.
